GENERAL REVIEW.

CHICAGO, January, 1887.

HON. A. M. WRIGHT, President of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago:

The twenty-ninth annual report of the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, embracing "such other information as may be of interest to the members," is, in accordance with the rules of this body, herewith submitted.

Conforming to the statistical order of this volume, I present a few observations of a national character, together with certain other harmonious incidental facts which seem desirable, that the scope and importance of the business of the Board itself may be the better apprehended.

First, the main features of the principal Grain crops of the country should be recorded. Upon 136,158,866 acres, have been produced 2,774,793,000 bushels of Wheat, Corn, and Oats, valued at $1,110,-674,950, showing an increase of more than 6,000,000 in acres sown, though a decrease of 175,904,000 bushels in quantity grown, and $20,000,000 less in value as compared with the corresponding figures of the year 1885.

The crops of Barley and Rye aggregate 86,000,000 bushels upon an area of 5,000,000 acres; making the combined area occupied by the chief cereals ~~141~~,159,000 acres, representing in round numbers 2,800,-000,000 bushels,—almost exactly the average production for the last five years, the two smallest crops, each showing about 2,600,000,000 bushels, being those of the years 1882 and 1883.

CORN.

The crop of Corn is estimated at 1,665,441,000 bushels, the product of 75,694,208 acres, averaging but twenty-two bushels per acre; the smallest in rate of yield, except that of 1881, in the recent series of short crops. The noticeable feature of this important and distinctively American crop for the past year is, that, although its acreage is 2,500,-000 more than in 1885, its total yield is about 270,000,000 bushels less. It is, however, the largest of the five crops that have fallen short of an average yield; it has a home valuation of $610,000,000. and adapts itself to all parallels of latitude and longitude within the Union. It is not only remarkable for its intrinsic wealth, but for the great variety of forms in which it enters into our commercial products, turning the wheels of the manifold industries of at least seven great States, and so intimately connected with inter-state commerce in its multiplied relations, as to constitute, with the cotton crop, the chief bulwark of national financial prosperity. Since the possibilities of this crop are so immense, and as it is almost exclusively American, special efforts are being made to impress upon foreign markets a knowledge of the variety of its economical uses, with a view of largely increasing its export demand. At the coming exhibition in London will be demonstrated the desirability, for sanitary and palatable considerations, of extending its use as an article of food for the human family. This movement is of great importance, and cannot be too highly commended.

The average farm price is 36.6 cents per bushel, which is an advance of twelve per cent over that of the previous year. This is the first arrest of the steady decline in the price of Corn since the short crop of 1881, when the average price was 63.6 cents and the crop was 1,194,916,000 bushels.

Illinois, with 209,818,000 bushels of this golden grain, leads the great Corn-producing states, followed closely by Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, and Nebraska, in the order of their production; these six States alone showing an output of 904,000,000 bushels, representing a valuation upon the farm of $262,654,000.

WHEAT.

The product of this cereal is 457,218,000 bushels, derived from an area of nearly 37,000,000 acres, and having a farm value of $314,000,000; the average price per bushel is 68.7 cents, against 77.1 cents for the previous crop, and 64½ cents for the great crop of 1884. The present is the lowest farm price recorded excepting the year 1884. The average production for the last five years in the United States is 436,000,000 bushels, and for the ten years immediately preceding (some of which supplied the heaviest demand for exportation ever known) 366,000,000 bushels. The Spring Wheat area is 12,271,605, and that occupied by Winter Wheat is 24,534,579 acres. The general average for Winter and Spring Wheat is about 12½ bushels per acre, and the increase of product over 1885 is 100,000,000 bushels. The great state of Minnesota, with nearly 43,000,000 bushels, yielding to her farmers over $26,000,000, has produced more than any other state: then follow Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and Illinois.

The above order of production may be thus accounted for: The older states have naturally greater facilities for a diversification of crops, and consequently their yield of the respective cereals is determined by price and demand oftener than by merely physical causes and influences purely natural.

OATS.

The product of this crop is 624,134,000 bushels, grown upon 23,658,474 acres, as against 629,409,000 bushels produced upon 22,783,630 acres in the year 1885; the valuation, however, is about $6,500,000 greater than the crop of that year, being $186,137,930. The average value per bushel is 29.8 cents. The tendency, as in the case of corn, is in the direction of increased cultivation. The other grains being used almost entirely for human consumption, do not, admit of such extension. This is the first arrest of the decline in price which began in 1882. In 1881 the price was 46.4; in 1882, 37.5; 1883, 33.0; 1884, 28.0; 1885, 28.0; and in 1886, 29.8 cents per bushel.

COTTON.

The crop of Cotton for 1885-86 is officially stated at 6,575,691 bales, produced on 18,300,865 acres, and representing a home valuation of $269,989,812. This is the largest crop raised since 1883, and has been exceeded but three times, and then but slightly. The quality is superior, with a length of staple rarely equaled. The price has been lower than for thirty-one years, ranging from 8 13-16 to 9 9-16 cents per pound in the City of New York. The largest crop prior to the war was in 1859-60, and since that period, in 1882-83.

This plant, first mentioned by Herodotus about 450 B.C., and first manufactured in the tenth century, has become, through the invention of the cotton-gin by Eli Whitney, the basis of one of the chief industries of the country. About the year 1536 the plant was discovered in the region drained by the Mississippi and what is now the State of Texas; but it was not cultivated on this continent before 1621, though it appears that, before the close of the fourteenth century, cotton goods of India manufacture controlled the English market. After the revolutionary war it began to enter into our exports, the first shipment being ten bales from the port of Savannah in 1784. In 1886, such is the marvelous development of commerce in this article, 4,283,728 bales were shipped to foreign ports. The flattering feature of its outlook is the fact that the American consumption of raw cotton is hardly one-third of the American production. The increase of railroad communication, with its attendant activities, which happily is taking place throughout the South, will tend to increase the conversion of cotton fibre, by domestic labor, into the fabrics which the necessities and elegancies of life demand in every market of the world. Patriotism and interest, with all the finer instincts of humanity, call upon capital, labor, mercantile capacity, and activity, everywhere under a common flag, to contribute toward the realization by the New South, of those cherished hopes to which it is entitled by its wealth of soil and citizenship, its character and its manhood.

FARM ANIMALS.

The total number of farm animals, comprising horses, mules, milch cows, oxen and other cattle, sheep, and swine, is 152,019,868, valued at $2,400,586,938, showing a decrease in numbers of 1,479,207 and an increase of value of $35,427,076 compared with the corresponding figures of the year 1885. The increase in "other cattle" is specially noticeable, and is accounted for by the belief that beef will be more profitable than the tillage of crops, and, moreover, that it is not so sensitive as grain to depressing market influences. A very marked decline is observed in the number of sheep, occasioned by low prices of wool, which have prevailed indeed in all the markets of the world. The numbers have likewise diminished in other countries. The effect of this universal diminution is beginning to be felt in improved values.

The number of swine is 1,479,207 less than a year ago, a decline, attributable mainly to the ravages of cholera; the value, however, is increased to the extent of $3,473,397. The number of hogs officially reported in January, 1887, is 44,612,836, valued at $200,043,291.

Notwithstanding milch cows have increased in numbers, their aggregate value is very materially less than one year ago, the decline being ascribed to low prices for butter.

The great swine-producing states are Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Texas, Indiana, Nebraska, Ohio, and Kansas, in their order.

As the new year opens there are substantial signs of an improvement in the value of these animals.

The average prices of all animals of each species on the 1st of January each year, for a series of years, are given in the following statement:

Year.	Horses.	Mules.	Cows.	Other cattle.	Sheep.	Swine.

California, Texas, and Ohio lead in the production of sheep, while Texas, Iowa, Kansas, and Illinois are the principal states in raising oxen and other cattle.

In this country the combined valuation of the prominent cereal crops, cotton, and farm animals, reaches the stupendous sum of thirty-eight hundred and fifty-two million dollars ($3,852,000,000).

The live stock of the world is, in round numbers, 195,500,000 cattle, 48,000,000 horses, 393,322,000 sheep, and 93,300,000 swine. Europe, the La Plata states of South America, and Australasia are the largest sheep-raising countries, together producing 345,000,000 head.

PRODUCTION OF GOLD AND SILVER MINES, AND MONEY CIRCULATION.

The mines of the United States produced in the calendar year of 1885, $31,800,000 in gold and $51,600,000 in silver, showing an increase over their product of the previous year of about $1,000,000 in gold and $2,800,000 in silver.

The estimated production of gold in the world during the calendar year 1885 amounted to $101,580,000, and of silver, at its coinage value, $125,000,000. The United States produces more of the precious metals than any other country. The Republic of Mexico occupies the second place, Australia the third, and Russia takes the fourth rank.

The stock of United States coin in circulation in the country July 1, 1886, was of gold, $548,320,031 and of silver $308,784,223, making a total of $857,104,254. In addition to coin, there was gold and silver bullion in the mints and assay offices amounting to $45,923,050.90. The total money circulation in the country July 1 of this year, including U. S. notes, national bank notes, and fractional currency amounted to $1,815,571,225.

FOREIGN COMMERCE FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1886.

The value of domestic merchandise exported from the United States for the year is $665,964,529, as against $726,682,946 for the year immediately preceding. The exports of foreign merchandise amount to $13,560,301, showing an excess of total exports over imports of $44,088,694. The combined value of our imports and exports of merchandise is $1,314,960,966.

Our foreign commerce began to decline in 1882-83 and was the result of commercial demoralization, not peculiar to this country, but existing in every considerable market of the world. The excess of commerce of 1884-85 over that of 1885-86 is $4,756,118, while its excess in 1883-84 over that of 1884-85 is $88,494,218. These comparisons furnish well-grounded hopes that trade depression has reached its lowest point. Confirmatory of this view, the trade returns thus far during the current year show a most gratifying improvement. Between 1883 and 1885 the foreign commerce of the United Kingdom shrank $437,775,740, of France $318,926,144, and of the United States $227,303,232; so that this country is neither alone nor conspicuous in the decline of trade. It is proper here to remark that the commercial year of Great Britain and France is the calendar year, and that of the United States ends June 30.

The falling off in value of our exports to Europe during the past year is $57,000,000, of which decline nearly $50,000,000 is in our exports to the United Kingdom. The total decrease in the value of exports of domestic merchandise during the last fiscal year is about $61,000,000. This decline is chiefly in breadstuffs, provisions, sugar, cattle, and copper.

The products of agriculture constitute nearly 73 per cent of our exportation of domestic merchandise.

First in the order of our exports is cotton, of which we have exported 2,058,037,444 pounds, valued at $205,085,642, showing a considerable increase in both quantity and value over the exports in the year 1884-85.

Our exports of Wheat amount to 57,759,209 bushels, valued at $50,262,715; showing a decrease in quantity of 26,894,505 bushels and in value of $22,670,382.

Of Corn we have exported 63,655,433 bushels, at a valuation of $31,730,922, being 11,821,017 bushels and $3,727,069 more than is indicated by the corresponding figures for the previous year.

The decline in the value of our exports of breadstuffs from the fiscal year 1885 amounts to $34,524,263, and $143,710,162 from that of 1881. This decline is due to the improvement in European harvests during the last five years, to the increased wheat production of other countries, and to rapid and cheap transportation, by which any deficit can be promptly supplied from competing markets. The dependent markets are not obliged, as formerly, to look to any special source of supply; hence that rapid and sustained advance which once characterized the markets of this country, is not, under existing circumstances, probable. Preceding the year 1881, the yield in Western Europe was very low, and during that year American exportation was abnormally great. Thus was brought about an increase of millions of acres of wheat, not only in this country but in Russia, India, Australia, and South America. This, in connection with general business depression in centers of trade, amply explains the surfeit of stocks and the low prices which have prevailed. The total wheat product of India for 1885 was officially stated at 7,713,069 tons of 2,240 pounds (or 287,955,584 bushels of 60 pounds); but the figures officially given for the different provinces and native states make up a total of 8,013,096 tons (299,122,251 bushels of 60 pounds), and no official statement has been received in which this discrepancy is explained and the true total authoritatively stated.

The Wheat product of the world for 1885-86, harvested in 1885 in the northern hemisphere, and in the early months of 1886 in the southern, is 2,110,000,000 bushels.

The exportation of Oats is greater than for the year 1884-85 by 1,481,002 bushels, and in value by $355,132; being 5,672,694 bushels, valued at $1,944,772.

The exports of Provisions, comprising meat and dairy products, amount in value to $90,625,216, against $107,332,456 in 1885. Of Bacon and Hams we have sent abroad 419,788,796 pounds, which is 19,661,675 pounds in excess of such articles exported in 1885; though the valuation of such exports in 1885 is greater than during the last fiscal year by $5,443,737.

Of Lard we have exported 293,728,019 pounds, against 283,216,339 pounds shipped to foreign ports in 1885; the valuation, however, of that exported in 1886 is $2,233,433 less than during the year 1885.

The value of Hog Products shipped from the United States during the last fiscal year aggregates $57,125,408, and we must go back to the year 1872 to find a smaller corresponding statement.

The exports of Provisions, including meat and dairy products, have suffered a marked decline of late years. The decrease of our exports to France has been very large, and dates from the exclusion of American pork by that government in the year 1882.

The following exhibit of the value of our exports of Provisions, classified as Hog Products, Meats, and Dairy Products, for a series of years, will be found suggestive and interesting:

An erroneous impression of the exports of the year would be conveyed were it not stated that the exportation of breadstuffs and provisions has very materially increased since the close of the fiscal year, June 30, last. For the seven months ended January 31, 1887, the value of the exports of breadstuffs is $94,974,563, and for the corresponding period immediately preceding, but $64,208,942. All this is in entire harmony with the deductions which have been drawn, in this review, from the record of leading industries, and justifies expectations of a substantial business improvement in the year just entered upon.

RAILROADS.

In the year 1886 there have been 8,649 miles of railroad constructed, or 5,646 miles more than were built in the preceding year; making the length of railways in the United States and territories 137,616 miles.

The railroad mileage of Great Britain (19,169 in the year 1885) seems to a superficial view comparatively insignificant, but a knowledge of the extent of its rolling stock conveys a different impression, and shows that its importance should not be measured by its mileage. The British roads are very heavily equipped, having nearly four times as many locomotives and thirteen times as many passenger cars per mile as the roads in this country, providing for a very heavy merchandise and passenger traffic. This is necessitated by a population of 1,930 per mile of railroad, as against 460 in the United States.

Thus it may be seen that the British mile does the work for four times as many people as the American mile. According to the latest estimates, the railways of the United States represent an investment of $8,350,000,000 and a nominal cost of $7,050,000,000, without taking into account the numerous railways sold out under foreclosures. Here is a voluntary investment many times greater than the national debt. According to the last census, 256,372 men were employed by the railways of the country. Allowing each employé to have a family of three besides himself, there are over a million people supported directly by wages received from railway corporations. At least an equal number derive their support from dividends and interest received from investments in railway stocks and bonds.

The smallest number of inhabitants per mile is in Australia, and is 364; the largest number 2,786, and is in Austria-Hungary. The cost of railroads is greatest in Great Britain, being there $205.842 per mile, and cheapest in Finland, where it is $30.102 per mile. In the United States the cost is $63.250 per mile. The entire cost of the railroads of the world is estimated by an eminent German authority at $24,000,000,000. The principal extension in this country during the year 1886 has been in the southwestern and northwestern groups.

The reports obtained by Messrs. Poor & Greenough (recognized high authorities on railroad matters) indicate that in the year 1887 12,000 miles of railroad will be built in this country. This means employment for the working classes and the quickening of many industries.

In forecasting the business future, there is no more important factor than the subject of railroads. Their very extensive growth during the past year is fruitfully suggestive, and is an assurance that aggressive enterprise has impelled capital to occupy new fields and to develop undertakings already inaugurated; it implies the extension of natural wealth, discerned by a sagacious mercantile ambition and seen by the eye of science, in the yet undeveloped natural resources of the land.

IMMIGRATION.

The foregoing facts, forcible not only in themselves, but much more so in the irresistible and abundant inferences which they warrant, wend their way to the ambitious and poorly-requited workers of the old world, stimulating emigration to a republic where industry, ability, and frugality bring forth their deserved results, physical, intellectual, and patriotic.

The number of immigrants arriving in the United States in 1886 is 334,203, not including those from Canada and Mexico, as there is no legal provision by which the migration from those countries can be ascertained. The efficient chief of the Bureau of Statistics, Mr. Switzler, is urging upon the government the enactment of a law to provide for this deficiency.

PUBLIC DEBT.

The policy of reducing the country's obligations has been faithfully adhered to, $101,470,330.75 of such obligations having been discharged during the year just closed, the largest decrease in any one year since 1883. At this rate the public debt in 1897 will be only $277,000,000. The unquestioned stability of the republic, with all its safeguards—patriotic, commercial, and educational—is included in this policy, acquiesced in by every citizen of the land.

BUSINESS MORTALITY.

The number of mercantile failures in 1886 is 1,052 less than in 1884 and 548 less than in 1885, showing the continuance of the improvement begun in the preceding year. The difference between assets and liabilities is not as great as in the preceding year. The general liabilities were $135,091,709 less than in 1884 and $6,500,000 less than in 1885, being smaller than in any year since 1882.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The financial methods inaugurated in view of the restoration of business have been pursued, and credits given by banker and merchant have been based upon an intimate acquaintance with personal financial responsibility. Should there be no departure from this conservatism (nowhere more prevalent than in the western states), the business of the year 1887 will exhibit profitable results and increased volume.

Such, in its salient features, is the national record of the year, directly bearing upon the chief industries of the country and in an especial sense affecting the great agricultural interests intimately connected with the business of this Board; affording not only evidence of ability to cope with adverse commercial influences, which for a series of years have characterized markets domestic and foreign, but constituting in its logical tendency an assurance that the "tide has turned" and that a period of business prosperity greets all departments of trade as we enter upon the activities of another year.

The shipment of grain in foreign bottoms demands renewed solicitude. Of over 52,000,000 bushels of grain shipped from New York in the year 1886 not one bushel was transported in an American vessel—British craft, numbering 743 out of a fleet of 1,279 vessels, taking about 34,000,000 bushels. During the year ended June 30, last, 9,527 American vessels, with a tonnage of 3,303,373 tons, cleared for foreign ports, as against 30,473 foreign vessels representing 15,327,672 tons. The number of American vessels entered from foreign ports presents a similar comparison. With such statements as these it is needless to add that the American ocean-carrying trade is mortifyingly insignificant; its restoration should engage serious congressional deliberation, not only to gratify a commendable national pride, but that American money may not be expended in so large a degree to maintain a foreign merchant marine. Every mercantile and patriotic incentive is appealed to, that the national ensign may not be so seldom seen presiding over American commerce upon the high seas.

CHICAGO.

The business of the year has fully met all reasonable expectations, and the city is true to her record in all that pertains to permanent gains and substantial wealth. While progressing in all departments of mercantile activity, she is constantly solidifying in those elements which in older communities constitute the substratum of commercial credit; not that the year has been free from periods of comparative dullness or exempt from disturbances.

The course of business of the preceding year and the activity of its closing months ushered in a period of prosperity at the very beginning of the year, only to meet with untoward events and forebodings calculated to arrest enterprise and create alarm. In spite of these disturbances, caused by a feverish state of European affairs, and by their sometimes hostile attitude; and notwithstanding serious outbreaks in our midst of impetuous and misguided laborers, frenzied by specious and criminally inflammatory appeals, the mercantile history of the year is an exceedingly gratifying one. Had the labor troubles, which came like an epidemic and burst upon us with a murderous horror in the month of May, not occurred, labor would have been in increased demand, wages advanced, and that substantial prosperity, so long desired, would not have been delayed. All honor to the heroic police force, which, in that dark hour on the 4th of May, 1886, stood undismayed in Haymarket square like a wall of adamant for the public safety! But for that heroism, the terrors of that night would have been increased beyond the power of words to portray. Seven hearts were stilled. The red tide was stayed. Justice waits. This Board, without delay, voluntarily and eagerly, by individual contributions, sent to the families of the officers killed or wounded, thirteen thousand dollars, as a slight expression of its appreciation of bravery in the public defense.

This tumultuous onslaught, so determinedly resisted and so emphatically condemned, will not be repeated. The people, tolerant of the largest liberty under the regulation of law, will not permit its excess to the detriment of good order or beyond constitutional limitations.

The Stock Yards strike, occurring in October, last, was controlled with remarkable ability by the great packing firms of this city, composed of gentlemen of the highest integrity and utmost fairness. That all grievances of their employés, when properly presented, will receive their respectful and charitable consideration, cannot be doubted; that all attempts to obtain redress for alleged injustice, by violence or threats of persecution, will be summarily suppressed, is equally assured.

During the year 4,664 buildings have been constructed upon a frontage of 112,302 feet, at an estimated cost of $21,332,000; showing a very material increase in the number of buildings and in valuation over the corresponding statement of 1885. In no other year have so many costly and elegant structures been erected.

Our coastwise and foreign trade, as a totality, makes an exhibit the extent of which may be realized by the following statement and comparisons obtained from the superintending special agent of the Secretary of the Treasury. The arrivals and clearances, foreign and coastwise, at this port, for the year ended June 30, last, are 22,096, which is 869 more than at the ports of Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Portland and Falmouth, and San Francisco combined; and 315 more than at New York, New Orleans, Portland and Falmouth, and San Francisco; and 100 more than at New York, Baltimore, Portland and Falmouth.

When the agricultural and mining wealth contained in the vast regions lying north and west of this metropolis is thoughtfully considered; and when it is borne in mind that an immense population is destined to occupy those fields, and that unequaled facilities for transportation are provided by the great lakes, it is plainly seen that the foregoing facts, impressive as they are, will be dwarfed by the history of future years.

The Grain receipts for the year aggregate 133,306,752 bushels, as against 132,200,000 bushels for the year 1885; and, reducing Flour to Wheat, 151,932,995 bushels, as compared with 156,408,228; showing an increase in the receipts of Grain and a decrease in those of Flour.

The receipts of Flour and Wheat from August 1 to December 31 amount to (Flour reduced to Wheat) 23,434,316 bushels, as against 15,711,296 for the corresponding time in 1885.

The shipments of Grain have been 112,634,556 bushels, as against 112,000,000 for the previous year; and reducing Flour to Wheat, 129,636,678 bushels, being 5,951,243 less than in the year 1885.

The cattle received number 1,963,900; hogs, 6,718,761; sheep, 1,008,790; horses, 27,599; showing an increase of 163,443 over similar receipts for the previous year, and 1,729,154 over those of 1884.

The number of miles of railway tributary to Chicago is, including branches, 48,783; an increase during the year of 852 miles.

The grain elevators of Chicago are capable of storing 27,000,000 bushels of grain. On the 31st of December last they contained 19,188,645 bushels, it being the largest quantity held at any time during the year. The quality and reliability of this grain is such that it commands the confidence of the markets of the world, and is collateral security of unquestioned character, not only on account of its quality and its legal status, but because of the integrity of those who are its authorized and legal custodians. There are unmistakable indications that increased elevator room will be demanded by the business of this Exchange before another year closes.

Prosperity has attended the wholesale trade, and manufacturing has largely increased. A careful survey of the entire business of the city warrants the belief that the year 1887 will be one of substantial progress and will exhibit results which will be a source of pride to every one of her citizens.

WHEAT.

This market, though opening with hopeful indications resulting in sales of No. 2 Spring at 84 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents for cash or spot wheat, degenerated into dullness, which, with an easy decline, continued, interrupted by moderate fluctuations, until sales were quoted on the 17th of June at 70 $\frac{1}{4}$ cents per bushel. The early confidence in the value of this grain was reluctantly abandoned, as peace between the great European powers was seen to be assured. During this period of depression, the trade of the Exchange was skillfully conducted, and the conservatism of our merchants was equal to the situation. No disaster occurred; only disappointment that activity was deferred and that speculation exhibited little signs of revival. The policy of extreme caution prevailed until July came, bringing with it evidences that low prices in June had induced heavy purchases by an influential syndicate supported by foreign participants. Under this excitement an extensive demand appeared, and prices of cash reached 80 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents on July 7; from this date a reaction followed and quietness reigned through the summer months; on the 12th of October, cash wheat sold at 70 cents per bushel, revealing the fact that a large "long" interest controlled the market and disposed of its holdings. During the season of dullness, strong and weak markets alternated, showing at times considerable steadiness for several weeks; June and October were the months of depression and low prices. In the latter month culminated labor and financial troubles, which had been brewing through the dull, impatient, and complaining months which preceded. The outbreak at the Stock Yards, by which thousands of men were inconsiderately "ordered out" by the Knights of Labor, caused more or less consternation, while the failure of a provision house tended to increase the anxiety of the time. Not since 1862 has wheat touched so low a price, except in the latter part of 1884. Succeeding the languor which pervaded this market during the months of August, September, and October, a return of activity came with November, causing a material advance in values—quite uniform and healthful—until $79\frac{1}{2}$ cents was reached on the last day of the year. The receipts of the year were 16,771,743 bushels as against 18,909,717 bushels for 1885. But a small proportion of our receipts inspected No. 3, which caused a much less difference in price between that and the regular contract grade than usual. Winter wheat ruled quiet throughout the year. The average price for the year was about $76\frac{3}{4}$ cents per bushel against $88\frac{1}{2}$ cents for the year 1885. The receipts for the crop year were 20,109,720 bushels.

The following statement of the range in prices of No. 2 Spring Wheat in this market for the last twenty-five years, showing the months in each year of extreme price, is submitted:

FLOUR.

The demand for Flour has been more active than during 1885, though our receipts have been less than in that year by 80,376 barrels. Our merchants sold very largely for export, direct from the country mills, such shipments not appearing in our receipts. This is the first year that flour from Washington Territory has been handled on this market; it has commanded from $3.75 to $4 per barrel in half-barrel cotton sacks. Very little Colorado flour has been upon the market during the year. Large shipments of flour from Michigan and Indiana have been sold by the trade and shipped direct to the seaboard, showing that the export demand is for a higher grade than was formerly required: hence the volume of trade has been much larger than would be inferred from local statistics. Dakota patents and "Baker's" have met with very ready sale to local dealers and exporters. The receipts from Kansas and Missouri have been comparatively small. Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, southern Illinois, and Wisconsin have supplied the bulk of arrivals. Nearly all the flour is sold in 140 pound jute sacks, barrels being used only by local dealers, and even by them in limited quantity. The experience of millers in consigning their flour direct to Europe has been discouraging, and in view of saving the trifling charge of the commission merchant, they have lost from 50 to 75 cents per barrel. Jobbers are finding it for their advantage to treat with the commission dealers—not that they can buy at a less price than from the miller, but that they can adapt their purchases to actual wants, and in that way make the date of maturing obligations conform to the condition of their own trade. Prices of all grades have ranged from $1.60 to $5.25 per barrel. Unjust discrimination in freight rates has somewhat curtailed the volume of trade in this article. Direct exports amount to 680,631 barrels, and exports from eight Atlantic ports, 8,148,039 barrels, as against 719,076 and 7,959,022 barrels respectively. Quantity on hand at the close of the year, 48,640 barrels. Receipts during 1886, 4,139,165 barrels; shipments, 3,778,227 barrels.

CORN.

The market for this grain has ruled steady. The reserve stock has promptly responded to any improvement in demand without advancing prices. The abundant supply has afforded no encouragement to withhold shipments, while the low prices have produced no anxiety to unduly press the grain upon the market. This condition of things has kept the market free from any violent change during the entire year.

The receipts aggregate 62,861,594 bushels, which is a trifling variation from the receipts of 1885. The shipments amount to 56,376,476 bushels. The average price is 36.94 per bushel, which was fully six cents lower than for the preceding year. Prices ranged from $32\frac{1}{4}$ cents in April to $44\frac{3}{4}$ cents in July; the extreme price was attained in view of fearing a short crop. From $36\frac{1}{2}$ cents in January, prices moved upon an easy grade through the months of February and March, until, as the result of flattering prospects in April, sales were made on the 7th of that month at $32\frac{1}{4}$ cents. In May the market was steady, with about the same price at each end of the month. In June prices pursued about the same gait; but July brought an orderly advance, until $44\frac{3}{4}$ cents was reached upon the 28th of that month. In August prices had a range of 4 cents per bushel, but without any violent change. In September weakness set in and the movement was sluggish, closing on the last day of the month at $36\frac{3}{8}$ cents. In October the decline was continued, with the opening and closing price of that month without essential variation. In November a moderate improvement was inaugurated and sustained; the closing price upon the last day of the month was $37\frac{1}{2}$ cents. December brought a market of good tone and little better prices, with a variation through the month of $2\frac{1}{4}$ cents only.

Below is submitted a statement of the extreme prices each year for twenty-five years, indicating the month in which such prices were obtained:

In this grain, as in Oats, an important feature is the selling by sample.

RYE.

This article has ruled dull during the entire year. The inquiry has been confined to local wants; and in the absence of any export demand, cut off by the duty imposed by France and Germany, no animation has visited the market. The large supply of whiskey has operated to limit the demand for distilling purposes, reducing buyers to a very small circle. The only trading beyond buying to fill small orders has been in view of making carrying charges from month to month.

The fluctuations have been about the same as in other grains and produced by the same causes. Prices have ranged from 47 cents to 56 cents; the latter price being induced by the drouth, which had a like effect on the other grains. The quality of the crop was fine. The average price for No. 2 in store is 55 cents.

Receipts for the year, 956,247 bushels; number of bushels in store January 1, 1887, 151,610.

OATS.

With a crop good both in quantity and quality, the trade in this grain—especially in sales by sample—has been satisfactory. The rapid accumulation of Oats as the new crop began to arrive, produced a heaviness in the market, which continued until the fine quality of the crop gave promise of an increased demand; this demand became fully developed in October, when the lowest prices of the year prevailed, and was well sustained throughout the year, producing a scene of animation at the sample-tables, gratifying to the great receiving interest of the Exchange. From September to the latter part of October, the stock in store decreased 1,000,000 bushels, so extensive were the orders to secure a good supply for winter wants before the close of lake navigation. The highest price was realized in January, caused by the anxiety of “shorts” to cover May sales, sellers viewing with some alarm the disposal by sample of the large proportion of the crop of 1885 in consequence of its failing to inspect the contract grade. This condition of arrivals forced prices up to 36 cents per bushel. The lowest price of the year was early in October, when arrivals were profuse and buyers controlled prices, until 22 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents was touched.

The speculative feature of this market has been devoid of interest, and no continued animation has characterized its course through the year.

As a distributing market for this grain, Chicago is growing in prominence. A most painstaking and able selection is made by those intrusted with the execution of orders.

Quantity in store on January 1st, 1887, 981,074 bushels; receipts, 39,976,215 bushels, as against 37,678,753 in the year 1885.

Below is submitted a statement of the extreme prices of each year for twenty-five years, indicating the month in which such prices were obtained:

BARLEY.

Most of the sales of Barley, in conformity with the nature of the demand, are made by sample. The requirements have reference not simply to official grade, but to color and that peculiar adaptation known only to the experienced and expert dealer. During the year Eastern buyers have bought largely from the West; this is accounted for by the excellent quality of the crop, which made the close discrimination ordinarily required, unnecessary.

In January prices were on a sliding scale, without violent change, closing upon the last day of the month at two cents below the prices on the first. During February, March, and April extreme dullness characterized the market. In May a monotonous market succeeded, with sales at 58 cents, without a variation. June brought an improvement of two cents per bushel, closing at the advance lost. A rally occurred in July, when sales for September delivery were effected at 68 to 68½ cents, and cash fluctuated between 58 and 66 cents. In August, confidence in prices was impaired, and cash sold at 57½ cents at the close of the month. From this point prices declined without any intervening animation through the balance of the year. November cash sales were made at 51 cents, and closing December quotations were 52¼ “spot.”

Comparatively little has been done in future delivery; hence the speculative feature of this grain calls for no extended remark. The drouth which prevailed in the early summer stimulated trading, and furnished the only period of vivacity which the market enjoyed.

Receipts for the year, 12,740,953, as against 10,760,127 bushels. Shipments, 7,326,190 bushels. Stock on hand January 1, 1887, 308,486 bushels.

HAY.

The hay trade of Chicago for the year has been unsatisfactory. In former years Hay brought the highest prices in the months of April and May. With this fact in view, the large majority of hay shippers, not mindful of the true condition of their stock, held their winter-baled hay for the spring months. As a result of this policy, the greater part of their holdings became heated when warm weather arrived, entailing severe losses.

The crop of 1886 was very large. The acreage was somewhat in excess of that of wheat—estimated at about 38,000,000 acres—and the product was over 45,000,000 tons. The yield is reckoned as ranging from 1.10 to 1.35 tons per acre. The quality of the crop of Iowa upland suffered to some extent from drouth, and was inferior to that of the previous year. Most of the hay west of the Mississippi was, however, cut before the drouth commenced.

Prices have ruled rather low through the year, allowing shippers and farmers very little, if any, profit. There is still room for great improvement in the manner of curing and keeping hay.

The value of hay sold in this city during 1886 may be approximately stated at $1,500,000. Most of the shipping demand has come from the lumber regions of Michigan and Wisconsin, as the middle and eastern states have raised good crops. Prices may be found in the appropriate table of statistics, ranging from $5 to $12 per ton, covering all grades.

SEEDS.

The diversification of rural industries, prompted by low prices of the chief cereals, has increased the area of seed cultivation. Buyers of seeds from all markets give Chicago the preference for the execution of their orders, as in no other place is so nice a discrimination exercised, or so uniform a quality attained. This being the case, Western shippers are finding it more and more to their advantage to consign their seed to this market, thus insuring superior facilities for its classification and disposal according to its merits.

In Timothy Seed, sales in January opened at $1.68 per bushel, and by the middle of the month were made at $1.83. From this time prices declined to $1.60 in June, but rallied before the close of the month to $1.75 per bushel. The dry weather in July produced uneasiness in regard to future supplies, and stimulated an active demand, especially for lots of good quality, until prices reached from $2 to $2.15 per bushel. In August, fears of serious disaster to the crop subsided, and values settled to $1.70 early in September. In October, a conspicuous failure demoralized the market, and a further decline carried the price down to $1.50. Reaction set in with speculative buying, aided by a good export inquiry, improving prices; at the close of the year sales were made at $1.75 to $1.90 per bushel.

In Clover Seed the year opened with quite a speculative demand, and prices advanced from $5.25 to $5.90 per bushel during January. This tendency became so pronounced that, in February, sales were made at $6.85. The violence of this advance caused early reaction, and spring quotations ranged between $6 and $6.70 per bushel. On the last day of April confidence in ruling prices fled, and sales touched $5.50. The trade during May and June was almost neglected, and prices were nominal. Dry weather in July caused an improvement of about a dollar per bushel, which was speedily lost, as it was ascertained that the drouth had inflicted no damage upon the crop. In October, prices fell to $4.25 and $4.30 per bushel, and then, on account of limited arrivals, recovered to $4.60 and $4.65. The fluctuations of the year have made it one not altogether satisfactory.

The trade in Hungarian and Millet has been inconsequential.

The year is marked by extremely low prices for Flax Seed, occasioned by an extensive increase in acreage and a liberal supply of linseed oil. Values have ranged from 91 cents to $1.17½ per bushel. The period of extreme depression occurred in November, when sales were made at 91 cents; this was caused by reselling purchases made for ocean shipment, which had been rendered unprofitable to ship by a subsequent decline in foreign markets and an advance in ocean freights. During November, prices were from 91 to 96¼ cents per bushel.

Receipts for the year, 11,836 cars, or 5,918,000 bushels; of which 5,097,000 bushels inspected No. 1. The average per cent. of impurity was 4.49. The largest receipts were in the months of September and October. The inspection of this seed is conducted with exceptional thoroughness, and monthly statements of stocks and grades are rendered with accuracy.

Quantity of Flax Seed in store December 31, 1886, 282,232 bushels.

LIVE STOCK AND PROVISION TRADE.

The transactions under this head are so intimately associated with the commercial reputation of this city that the mention of Chicago at once suggests the volume of trade in Live Stock and Provisions.

The receipts of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Horses aggregate for the year 9,770,340, at a valuation of $166,741,754, as against 9,924,507 received during the year 1885, valued at $173,598,002.

The largest receipts of Cattle on any one day occurred on January 12, 1886, and numbered 16,966. The arrivals of Cattle for the year number 1,963,900 head, and are more than have been received in any other year. The total number received for the last ten years is 15,361,566.

6,718,761 Hogs have been received, and 2,090,784 shipped for the year, as against 6,937,535 and 1,797,446, respectively, for the preceding year. Prices for the year have ranged from $2.40 to $5.20, including light and heavy weights; the lowest price occurred in April. The largest number arriving on any one day is 66,597, on December 5, 1884; and during any week, 300,488, for the week ended November 20, 1884. Total receipts for ten years, closing with 1886, are 60,814,545.

The total shipments of Live Stock for the year amount to 3,107,416 head—253,408 in excess of shipments for 1885. The total value of receipts for twenty-one years is $2,414,467,259, representing 123,028,349 Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Horses.

This array of facts and comparisons is merely indicative and suggestive. No proper conception of the enormous extent of this industry can be obtained by numerical statements; a personal inspection of the Stock Yards and their well-ordered furnishings, can alone convey any adequate idea of its importance and volume, or of the enterprise, ability, and capital employed in its prosecution.

The prices of Cattle have been lower than for many years, averaging about $2 per head less than the average price for 1885. This shrinkage is attributed to an advance in rail freights, to the monopolizing character of the dressed-beef business, and to the labor paralysis. Added to these disadvantages, was the pleuro-pneumonia fright, which amounted to almost a panic. The wonder is that, with so many impediments in the way of success, the record is not more unfavorable than it is. The events of the year demonstrate, beyond peradventure, the permanent and progressive character of this business. Prices of all grades of Cattle at the opening of the year ranged from $2.25 to $5.95, and were without material change until March, when a slight improvement is observed. This improvement was fairly well sustained until about the middle of July, when weakness set in and continued, with an occasional rally, until November, when the lowest prices of the year prevailed. On December 25 the quotations were from $2 to $5.60 for all styles.

The receipts of Sheep amount to 1,008,790, and shipments to 266,912 head. These figures do not vary materially from the corresponding ones for the year 1885. Prices have been from $1.50 to $6.25, as against $2 to $5.12½ for the previous year.

By permission of the accomplished Secretary of the Stock Yards, Mr. Geo. T. Williams, the following table, showing receipts of live stock for eight years, is submitted :

Year.	Cattle and Calves, Number.	Hogs, Number.	Sheep, Number.	Horses, Number.	Aggregate Value.

The business in Dressed Beef has been satisfactory throughout the year; an ample supply of good cattle, an active demand for beef product, and a growing reputation for excellence of "Chicago Dressed Beef" has contributed to the favorable result. Large orders for canned beef from European governments have been filled, and all forms of the product have been liberally shipped to the southern states, as well as to nearly every market of note in the country.

The number of cattle slaughtered at Chicago for the dressed-beef trade during the year ended March 1, 1887, is 1,608,202, which is about 200,000 more than were slaughtered for this trade in the year preceding.

The demand for Hog Product has been fairly active throughout the year, developing at times considerable speculation in the leading articles. Its distribution to domestic markets is constant and of increasing volume. The number of Hogs packed during the year ended March 1, 1887, is 4,425,941, and for the previous year, 4,928,730. The average gross weight per hog of summer packing is 224.57 pounds, and of winter packing, 249.92 pounds; the yield of lard in the one case is 31.92 pounds, and in the other, 34.67 pounds.

Mess Pork at the opening of the year sold at $9.97½ to $10.02½, gradually improving in price, and reaching $11.45 on the 3d of February. From this date the buyer was favored, and during March prices settled to $9.25; the decline continued through April and May, reaching to $8.20 on the 28th of the latter month. In June an improvement set in, which was strongly maintained until $10.50 was reached early in July; but in August values weakened, and sales were made at $9.52½. The first half of September, sales ranged from $9.75 to $11.37½ per barrel; during the latter half of the month demand was light, and prices fell to $9.30 on the 29th. October sales ranged from $8.47½ to $9; from this point a gradual advance began, which was strictly adhered to throughout the year. Sales on the 31st of December were made at $12.25 per barrel.

In Lard the highest prices of the year were in September, when sales were made at $7.57½, and the lowest quotations were $5.50 per 100 pounds in October.

Short Ribs have sold from $4.97½ to $7.45; the former price was realized in January and the latter in September.

The following statement is an exhibit of the export movement of Beef and Hog Product in pounds, from 1882 to 1886, inclusive:

Year.	Fresh Beef.	Salted Beef.	Pork.	Bacon and Hams.	Lard.
1886 -----	99,423,362	58,903,370	87,267,715	419,788,796	293,728,019

1883 -----	116,928,727	46,443,037	67,759,872	423,874,985	277,034,680

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The abundance of good pasturage, notwithstanding the July drouth, produced a good yield of choice Butter. The receipts for the year amount to 108,122,119 pounds, as against 92,474,784 pounds for the year 1885. Prices have ruled from 10 to 32 cents per pound, including Dairy and Creamery; the higher prices prevailed during the first quarter of the year. Oleomargarine legislation has absorbed a large share of attention among butter makers, and has been a prominent topic of discussion in all markets. The bill, which became a law in November, has proved rather advantageous than otherwise to the dairyman, although he feared great injury to his industry by its passage. The future of this great interest is exceedingly promising. The oleomargarine manufacturer has no intention of building up his business upon the foundation of another industry or giving it a name in the slightest degree misleading; he offers his goods upon their merits, and confidently invites inspection of their ingredients and mode of manufacture. The quantity of Butter exported in 1886 is 18,953,990 pounds, and in 1885, 21,683,148 pounds. The exportation of American Butter has stimulated the foreign farmer to use more pains and to produce a better article than formerly, and, on this account, the export demand has somewhat diminished. The domestic consumption has increased, as prices for choice Butter have been within the reach of all classes.

The market for Cheese has been a very favorable one during the past year, and a steady and strong demand has left no accumulation of stocks. The trade has been exempt from any depressing season. The drouth curtailed manufacturing, and in consequence a strong market followed in the autumn and winter months; indeed, holders have been quite confident all through the year. The quality has been fine, which of itself imparted strength to the market. The ordinary grades have passed out of date, as no demand has existed for them for a long time. Prices have ranged from 6 to 12½ cents per pound; the higher prices were obtained during the closing months of the year. Receipts, 38,320,751 pounds.

LUMBER, COAL, AND SALT.

The volume of the lumber trade is decreasing, as, owing to the force of competition, terminal and distributing charges must be avoided whenever possible. As a consequence, large shipments have been made from the mills direct to purchasing points. Conforming to this growing feature of the trade, the railway companies have reached their iron arms to the chief lumber towns and carried away immense loads of logs, boards, fencings, and posts to markets in every part of the country. In this view, while the local business has been less than during the preceding season, it is true that Chicago capital and enterprise have been the main-spring of the new order of things and control extensive lumber regions remote from this city.

The receipts of Lumber for the year amount to 1,742,984,000 feet, and the number of Shingles received is 813,869,000.

Detailed numerical statements concerning this trade may be found in their appropriate place in this volume.

The Coal trade makes a very satisfactory exhibit. As the result of great manufacturing activity, the consumption has largely increased. The number of tons received during the year was 4,056,018; number of tons shipped, 906,205. Further particulars may be seen on page 176 of this report.

The receipts of Salt during the year amounted to 1,274,203 barrels; shipments, 1,240,175 barrels; showing a falling off in receipts, without essential change in the quantity shipped.

The trade in Salt has been active throughout the year. The difficulty of obtaining railroad transportation has prevented a full supply of this article. The production in Michigan exhibits an increase. Owing to wet weather there has been a small production of foreign coarse Salt. During the first part of the year the sales of "American Fine" were made at 95 cents per barrel. The market declined, ruling at 90 cents in May and June, and 85 cents in August; closing in November and December at 80 cents. "Liverpool Fine" has ranged from $1.17 to $1.35 per sack. Sales of choice foreign, per ton, have been made at from $7.00 to $11.00; the highest prices prevailing during the latter part of the year.

DIRECT EUROPEAN SHIPMENTS.

Direct exports to Europe, for the year, amount to 341,266 tons, which is 39,300 less than in 1885. The shipments of Flax Seed show an increase of about 10,000,000 pounds, of Fresh Beef about 4,000,000 pounds, and of Oil Cake, 9,000,000 pounds. The exports of Cheese and Butter have diminished to the extent of 3,300,000 pounds, those of Corn, 1,600,000 bushels, and of Flour, 39,000 barrels.

Chicago should possess a direct export trade commensurate with her extensive and exceptional shipping facilities.

VISIBLE SUPPLY.

The statement of the visible supply of grain, in store at principal markets and afloat on the great lakes and Erie Canal, is issued by this Board before the noon hour on Monday of each week, and is made up to the close of business on the preceding Saturday. This statement, with that issued by the New York Produce Exchange, has the unqualified indorsement of the leading exchanges of the country, and is based upon precise official information, to the exclusion of any mere estimates or approximate figures. The value of this publication is fully appreciated by all interested in grain statistics, and is given in detail to the members of this Board as rapidly as obtained. The air of mystery which once enveloped this subject is dispelled, and a plain mathematical statement is presented.

TRANSPORTATION.

This subject still retains its pre-eminence in mercantile circles. Its innumerable advantages, universally conceded, require only the barest mention. Neither the efficiency of this service nor its cheapness is denied, but injustice and unwarranted discrimination have been frequently apparent—injustice to uninfluential shippers and to localities excluded from equitable freight benefits—discrimination without adequate cause, made directly in the interest of capital and in the fostering of monopolies.

The system of treating complaints, resulting sometimes in little except a voluminous correspondence burdened by an ingenious perplexity of evasions with disheartening delays, has been by general consent rejected, and legislative authority, for the correction of such abuses and the securing of common-law rights, invoked. This appeal has not been made in vain, hence the passage of what is known as the Inter-State Law, which is an authoritative notification to managers of railroad corporations that the benefits of transportation must be distributed with absolute equality, and that alleged grievances, in connection with carriage by rail, will have an impartial hearing by a Board of Railroad Commissioners.

The relation which railroads (common carriers) sustain to the public, distinctively involves accountability to the public. Those who exercise a public function are “bound to the public,” and not, in any discriminating or special sense, to stockholders. They are delegated by the people to perform service for the common welfare, and have no right whatsoever to discriminate between persons or places, or to exercise any preference with regard to the benefits which they distribute by public permission. Duties and obligations of common carriers should not be measured by rules and rights which belong to the conduct of ordinary business. They essentially differ. Misapprehension in this regard has led to much irrelevant discussion and ill-premised criticism upon the subject of railway transportation, even by railway managers themselves. The phrase “common carrier,” itself, excludes by implication, yet conclusively, any such word as “discrimination” from the railroad vocabulary. That “railroads are made for the people, and not people for the railroads,” is recognized as the legal and comprehensive declaration whenever and wherever railroads are on trial. These views have been clearly enunciated by the courts, and are insisted upon as the basis of the interpretation of the law.

In our report of 1884 we said: “A commission of high-minded and competent men, wielding the strong arm of national authority to prevent a reckless competition for traffic, and to adjust the interests of commerce with those of railways, would be of undoubted service to all concerned.” The business of the country is to be congratulated upon the prospects of this great interest.

There is little doubt that the Inter-State Law, in the hands of a commission wisely and broadly interpreting and applying its provisions and its underlying principle, will prove of great advantage to the business of the country, but especially to the Western consignor, whose line of transportation has been taxed by "short haul" rates, and who has not received the compulsory benefits conferred by the influence of competing lines. It was not contemplated by the framers of the law, nor was it considered possible, to define with absolute exactness every possible relation of the common carrier to the public, or in exact terms to provide for every possible combination of circumstances in the entire range of the problem of transportation. Hence provision is made for the appointment of a commission, not to furnish a phrase out of the language of the law to precisely determine every case that may be presented, but to apply the principles laid down in the law, that grievances may have a hearing, justice be speedily administered, that business rights guaranteed by the common law may not be encroached upon, and that corporations engaged in transportation may be reminded, when necessary, of their accountability as common carriers under the laws of the land. That difficulties will arise in the administration of the law, is inevitable; that changes suggested by experience will be incorporated in the law, is in harmony with the history of jurisprudence; that on the whole, the law itself will work out highly beneficial results to the complex interests of the country, railway and commercial, may be confidently expected.

CONCLUDING REMARKS.

The Directory deemed it advisable to include in the publication of the annual report, the Rules, Regulations and By-Laws of this Association, as amended to date. The statistical statements of the pork packing industry, up to March 1, 1887, are also included. It is thought that these additions will compensate for the delay which their insertion involves.

I cheerfully express my obligations to Messrs. Howard, White & Co. and Cowles & Ferren of this city, also to the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, and to eminent European authorities, for valuable information. In closing this review I desire to record my appreciation of the uniform courtesy which has been shown me by the officary and membership of the Board.

With sentiments of esteem, I have the honor, Mr. President, to subscribe myself,

Very respectfully yours,

GEORGE F. STONE, Secretary.

THE FINANCIAL EXHIBIT.

The table above presented precludes the necessity of extended comment upon the financial condition of the Board. All contracts for the construction of the building have now been settled in full except that of the Hallowell Granite Co. for "extras," which bill is in process of adjustment. It is gratifying to your Board to be able to state that, with all bills paid save the one above alluded to, there remains in the hands of your Treasurer, and in cash on hand, a balance of $39,916.56 besides an additional sum of $12,900 reserved to pay rent which may be due to the Chamber of Commerce at the close of the fiscal year.

ANNUAL ASSESSMENT.

With the view of keeping the Association in a strong condition financially, your Directors have fixed the annual assessment upon the members for 1887 at $60. This, with other expected revenues, should enable the Board to meet all current expenses and pay all interest on the bonded debt due for the current year.

PROVISION FOR ADVANCE INTEREST.

Ample provision is also made for the payment of the interest coupons which will be presented early in the year 1888; also for the possible rent that may be due to the Chamber of Commerce for the year 1887.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Negotiations are still pending with the Chamber of Commerce for an adjustment of the existing leases of the old hall and Commercial Building, which we hope will speedily result in an equitable settlement.

LITIGATION.

It has been the policy of the Directors to avoid unnecessary litigation, and all cases submitted to the courts during the year have been decided in your favor. The Board has, during the past three years, been engaged in an effort to get one of the numerous "bucket-shop injunction cases" through at least one of the lower courts and on its way from that to the Appellate Court, thence to the Supreme Court of the State. We are now able to report that one of the cases against the Board of Trade was heard by Judge Bagby in the Circuit Court in September last and the position of the Board sustained and the case appealed. The necessary appeal bond was filed, the record made up, and a stipulation in writing entered into between the attorneys of the respective parties that this case should be presented in good faith for a final issue in the Supreme Court. The case will probably reach a hearing in the Appellate Court early in the coming spring, so that we may reasonably expect a hearing in the Supreme Court at the ensuing term. On the issue of this case (and it does not seem to be involved in much doubt) will depend all other cases of a similar character. Hence the Board may reasonably expect ere long to be able to exercise a wholesome supervision over the distribution of its own market reports.

PROVISION WAREHOUSES.

The Directors have given considerable time to the consideration of means providing for the better security of persons holding registered warehouse receipts for property in provision warehouses. After conferring with bankers, dealers in provisions, brokers, and others interested, certain changes in the "Requirements for Warehouses for the Storage of Provisions" were agreed upon and adopted. It is now made the duty of the Provision Registrar to cause daily examinations to be made of stocks of registered provisions in all warehouses and to post in his office daily the results of such examinations, in order that holders of registered provision warehouse receipts can ascertain daily at the Registrar's office detailed information concerning property so represented.

LARD INSPECTION.

An important change has been made in the "Requirements for Prime Steam Lard," taking effect January 1, 1887, as follows: "Standard prime steam lard shall be solely the product of the trimmings and other fat parts of hogs, rendered in tanks by the direct application of steam, and without subsequent change in grain or character by the use of agitators or other machinery, except as such change may unavoidably come from transportation. It shall have proper color, flavor, and soundness for keeping, and no material which has been salted shall be included. The name and location of the renderer and the grade of the lard shall be plainly branded on each package at the time of packing." We deem this of sufficient concern to the buyers and consumers of lard, both in this country and in Europe, to justify the reproduction here of the regulation in full.

CALL BOARD.

As the existing rules make it entirely impracticable to maintain a successful Call Board, means should be devised to render this valuable portion of the building productive.

FREIGHT BUREAU.

The contract with the Chicago Freight Bureau required that the Board of Trade should pay one-half of the expenses of conducting the Bureau. Our share of these expenses for the year from November 15, 1885, until November 15, 1886, has been $6,210.10. The benefits accruing to the members of the Board of Trade by the action of your Directors co-operating with the Chicago Freight Bureau in the reduction of storage rates and terminal charges on grain, and the correction of unjust discrimination in rates of freight against Chicago, are detailed in the report of the Committee on Transportation, on file in the office of the Secretary. It has been left to the incoming Board of Directors to determine whether the Association will be justified in continuing this alliance for another year.

OBITUARY.

Death has demanded during the year a liberal harvest from our ranks. Twenty members of this Association who were with us at the beginning of the year have passed beyond our mortal vision, leaving us the lesson of their virtues, and admonishing those who remain that death ever waits upon the steps of life, and that with the grave there can be no controversy.

In this sacred roll may be found the names of three ex-Presidents of the board — Julian S. Rumsey, Charles H. Walker, and Josiah W. Preston.

Mr. Rumsey was one of the charter members of the Association, and its President during the years 1858 and 1859. To his effective example of mercantile integrity, as well as to his sagacity and judgment, the Board is largely indebted for its good name and prosperity. In April, 1861, he was chosen Mayor of Chicago, and during that eventful year, by wise counsel, rare executive ability, and patriotic energy, he honored the city which he served.

Mr. Charles H. Walker was President of the Board in 1856 and 1857, and was known as a genial and successful merchant.

Mr. Josiah W. Preston was President during the years 1871 and 1872, and left behind him the record of a true, warm-hearted, and honorable career.

Respectfully submitted,

A. M. WRIGHT, President.

Up to 1856 no record was kept of distinctly immigrants, separated from arrivals of alien passengers.

Of the number of immigrants arrived during the year ended June 30, 1886, 49,767 came from England and Wales; 49,619 from Ireland; 12,126 from Scotland; 84,403 from Germany; 40 from China; 40,510 from Norway and Sweden, and 97,738 from all other countries.

The number of immigrants arrived during the year was 61,143 less than the immigration during the preceding fiscal year, and 454,789 less than during the year ended June 30, 1882, the year of the greatest immigration.

Owing to the absence of law for the collection of statistics of immigration by railways, immigrants from the Dominion of Canada and Mexico are not included in the statistics of immigration since July 1, 1885.

NOTE.—Official statistics of the agricultural products have not been prepared in Great Britain until within the last three years. The figures as to wheat production for these years are reduced from imperial to Winchester bushels at the rate of 1.03452 of the latter to one of the former, and one hundred weights of 112 lbs. (in which the returns for Ireland are presented in the official reports) being reduced to bushels at the rate of 60 lbs. per bushel.

The figures for Great Britain do not include the produce of the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, of which no official statistics of products are published. The amount is, however, insignificant.

The wheat crops of all other countries, including the United States, Canada, India, Australasia, Egypt, Algeria, Argentine Republic and Chili, aggregate 853,753,637 bushels, making a grand total of 2,033,462,788 bushels.

NOTE.—Up to 1850 only the aggregate valuations in the several counties were reported to the State officers, and from 1852 to 1857, inclusive, a few counties returned only the aggregates; hence the details of Real Estate and Personal Property valuations are not complete for those years. In 1867 and 1868 the details of valuation are not entirely correct, owing to changes by the operation of the equalization law; since 1868 the valuations are as equalized. The total valuations in each of the several years are entirely correct and official.

The valuations for 1873 as equalized are largely in excess of any previous year. In 1874 some changes were made in the manner of equalizing the assessments, resulting in reducing all the valuations, but especially that of Railroad Property.

The State Debt, as noted, represents it as it stood on the 1st of January in each of the several years to 1869; in 1869 and 1870, as it stood December 1; in 1871, as it stood December 31; from 1872 to 1879, as it stood December 1.

NOTE.—From 1851 to 1862, inclusive, a Lamp Tax of half a mill to two mills was levied on certain portions of the city, and is included in the above Total Tax. The city debt as noted represents it as it stood on February 10 in 1852 to 1854, inclusive; on February 1 in 1855 to 1861, inclusive; on April 1 in 1862 to 1874, inclusive; and on December 31 since 1874. Valuations for 1855 to 1883, inclusive, are by the County assessment, as equalized by the State Board of Equalization, and in some of these years do not include railroad property. * Probable Imports.

NOTE.—In the above table the estimated yield per acre was, up to 1884, that of the best authorities, helped by a calculation of the results in each season; in the following years the Government figures have been adopted. In estimating the rate of consumption the conventional rate of 5½ bushels per capita is taken up to 1880-81, since when the rate of 5,60 bushels per capita has been assumed, such being considered nearer the actual consumption.

The amount placed opposite each fiscal year in the column of production is the crop grown during the preceding calendar year, and comprises port receipts, overland shipments to northern mills, and southern consumption, during the year ended August 31.

(b) The net weight of bales is stated on the authority of Mr. Thomas Ellison, of Liverpool, and the gross weight for the year, prior to 1878, on the authority of Mr. J. R. Dodge, Statistician of the Department of Agriculture, and after 1877, as reported by the National Cotton Exchange.

PROOF SPIRITS (HIGHWINES).

The following table indicates the current prices of Pure Proof Spirits. The sale of Highwines is almost obsolete, Proof Spirits taking their place in the demand from Rectifiers. At other distilling points there is still a slight demand for Highwines, and the price is considered a basis for all kinds of distilled spirits and their manufactured product; such markets quote the prices of Highwines, while Chicago quotes Proof Spirits, a product of Highwines.

In case it should occur that by reason of changes in the market, or of delivery upon, or the settlement of a portion of the contracts upon which security has been deposited and to which such security is properly applicable under this Rule, that a larger sum remains on deposit than is contemplated by Section 1 of this Rule upon then existing unadjusted contracts between the parties, and either party to such contract should refuse to release such excess of deposit, the President of the Board is authorized, upon a representation of the facts and admission or proof that such excess ought to be released, to order such release and payment to be made to the party to whom it rightfully belongs, by the indorsement of an order to that effect on either the original or duplicate certificate or certificates issued for such deposits; provided, in case of such disagreement no surrender of the deposit shall be ordered pending any arbitration touching the rights of the parties under the said contract or contracts, or in case the party refusing to adjust the dispute shall signify his willingness to submit the matter to arbitration.

All such warehouse receipts shall be made to run five days from date of delivery, on regular or customary storage charges; which regular or customary charges shall follow such warehouse receipts, and be chargeable upon the property covered by the same, and shall be issued by such houses as are in good credit, are conveniently approachable by vessels of ordinary draft, have customary shipping facilities, and are, in other respects, conformable to such requirements as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors.

All deliveries of grain in 1,000 and 5,000 bushel lots, of mess pork, lard, or s. p. hams in 50 and 250 package lots, or of meats in lots of 25,000 and 50,000 pounds, in store, on time contracts, after 11 o'clock A. M., shall be made in the Exchange Hall, or in such other place as may be designated by the Board of Directors, between the hours of 1:15 and 1:55 o'clock P. M., and shall be made by a notice in writing, which notice shall state on its face the place of business of its issuer. Such notice shall state in detail the warehouse receipts proposed to be delivered, and in the case of provisions in packages, or lard, the packer's brand, and the contract price on which delivery is proposed to be made, also the net cash value (deducting extra storage) of said property at the market price. At a stated hour each day, it shall be the duty of the Secretary to post or cause to be posted, in a suitable place, the market price of such grain or provisions as are deliverable on time contracts. Such delivery notice may be passed from one purchaser to another, before 1:55 o'clock P. M., by indorsement thereon, by the seller, of the name of the party to whom it is to be delivered, together with the contract price at which the property is sold, and also the time at which the delivery is made. The first delivery of such notice shall be made before 1:25 o'clock P. All delivery notices issued under this Rule shall be consecutively numbered by the parties issuing them. Notice of readiness to deliver property as herein provided, and all subsequent transfers of such notices, shall be deemed and held to be a valid and sufficient tender of property, on time contracts, under the Rules of this Board of Trade, provided the property is actually delivered, or is shown to have been ready for delivery, in the manner and upon the terms herein provided. It shall be the duty of the party regularly holding such notice at 1:55 o'clock P. M., to present the same at the office of its issuer before 2:30 o'clock P. M. of the same day, together with a certified check on some Chicago bank, in good standing, or other satisfactory payment, for the net amount due for the property represented by said notice at the market price; and upon tendering said notice with payment at the office of its issuer, the holder of such notice shall be entitled to receive the property represented by same. All differences due from or to parties to such delivery shall be paid upon the basis of a full delivery, and no more, and each purchaser receiving notice of delivery shall be responsible to the seller from whom the notice was received for the difference between the price actually paid for the property and their contract price. In cases where the seller's contract price is less than the price actually paid for the property, such seller shall be responsible to the purchaser to whom he delivered the notice for the difference. All such differences shall be due and payable immediately upon the delivery and payment for the actual property; it being the duty of each person transferring the delivery notice to ascertain what price was actually paid for the property.

The first delivery of the notice shall not be later than 9:10 o'clock, and it shall be the duty of the party regularly holding such notice at 10 o'clock to present the same at the office of its issuer before 11:30 o'clock A. M. of the same day, together with a certified check on some Chicago bank in good standing or other satisfactory payment, for the net amount due for the property represented by said notice as hereinbefore provided, and upon tendering said notice with payment at the office of the issuer, the holder of such notice shall be entitled to receive the property represented by the same.

All differences between the price paid for the property and any contract prices involved in its delivery, due to or from parties to such delivery, shall be adjusted and paid in the same manner and with the same liabilities as in the case of delivery made under this section between 1:15 and 1:55 o'clock P. M. In case property represented by either of the delivery notices mentioned in this section is not called and paid for as herein provided, it may be held by the issuer of the notice, for and at the expense for storage, interest, insurance, or other risk of the party whom it may concern until 12 o'clock M. of the next business day, at which time it shall be sold in open market for account of whom it may concern; or it may be sold, if the notice was delivered before 10 o'clock A. M., it may be sold at any time between the beginning of trading hours and 12 o'clock M. of the next business day. The party holding the property shall, however, notify the party to whom he delivered the original delivery notice, before 2 o'clock of the same day, of the default, if the delivery notice was delivered before 10 o'clock A. M.; or before 4 o'clock P. M., if the delivery notice was delivered between 1:15 and 1:55 o'clock P. M.—such notice of default to be in writing; and each purchaser receiving said notice of default shall in turn deliver the same, without delay, to the party to whom be passed the original notice of proposed delivery. All expense and risk of carrying property defaulted on, including a commission of one-quarter of one cent per bushel on grain, and one-quarter of one per cent. on the market value of provisions, shall be payable to the party required to make resale by the party to whom he had the property sold, he to be reimbursed by the one to whom he delivered the notice of delivery, and so on until it is finally paid by the party in default. Charges on default in receiving property, how paid.

And in case of such default and resale of property, all differences shall be adjusted, as hereinbefore provided, on the basis of the price at which the property shall have been resold. All parties having property due them on time sales, shall be present, or shall be represented by an authorized employé, in the Exchange Hall, or such other place as may be designated by the Board of Directors, between the hours of 1:15 and 1:55 o'clock P. M. of each business day, and on the first business day of each month between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.; and admission to the Exchange Hall, or such other place as may be designated by the Board of Directors, shall be denied all parties after 1:15 or 9 o'clock, as the case may be. In order to carry out the provisions of this section, as it relates to deliveries by notice between 9 and 10 o'clock A. M. on the first business day of each month, the time for opening Exchange Hall for the general admission of members, and for the commencement of the hours for trading, as prescribed by these Rules, shall on such days be delayed one hour. In case it should appear, on complaint duly made to the Board of Directors, that any member has been guilty of issuing a notice of readiness to deliver property as herein provided, who had not the property mentioned in such notice in his control or possession at the time of issuing such notice, or, having issued such notice, shall thereafter dispose of the property, except as herein provided, or who refuses to deliver up such property when demanded, as provided for under this Rule, such party shall be deemed guilty of gross fraud, and may be suspended or expelled from membership in the Association, under the provisions of Rule IV.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I.

Flour in sacks,
requirements.

The Committee on Flour Inspection recommend to millers and shippers of flour the following requirements of standard sacks:

NO. 140—JUTE EXPORT SACKS

Shall be from the best material, double stitched, not using less than an equivalent to 40x49 inch mangled or craped finished material, weighing not less than 12 ounces per yard of 40 inches in width, or 15 ounces for the complete bag. If from starched or sized material the complete bag should not weigh less than 16 ounces.

NO. 280—JUTE EXPORT SACKS

Shall be from the best material, double stitched, not using less than an equivalent to 50x63 inch mangled or craped finished material, weighing not less than 15 ounces per yard of 50 inches in width, or 25 ounces for the complete bag. If from starched or sized material the complete bag weighing not less than 26 $\frac{1}{4}$ ounces.

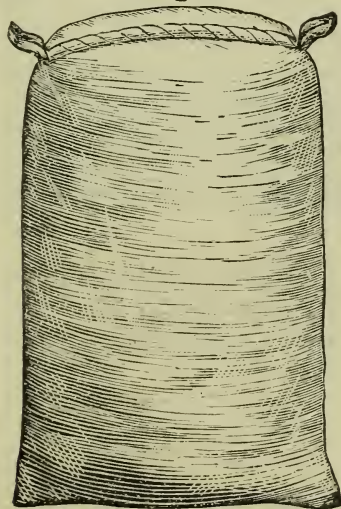

Seamless jute sacks must be from same weight and quality of material, etc., but require 4 per cent. less material, and may weigh 4 per cent. less.

140 POUND COTTON EXPORT SACKS

II.

The Committee on Flour Inspection also recommend to millers and shippers of flour in sacks to be inspected in this market, that in closing the sack the mouth edge of the sack be turned in without rolling and sewed with a single seam, the stitches to be at least $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches apart. (See Fig. 1). This will allow the Inspector to insert the trier between the stitches without making holes in the cloth.

III.

How to load
sacks.

The Committee on Flour Inspection further recommend to millers, shippers of flour, and railway agents, that in loading cars the following instructions be observed:

One hundred and forty pound sacks should be piled in two tiers lengthwise of car, the mouths being toward centre of car (see Fig. 2), then fill the space between with a row of sacks, mouths up.

Unless these recommendations be complied with the Inspector will charge for the labor necessary to put the flour in proper position for inspection.
